Mantle Energy

This is not just an investment opportunity,
it is an opportunity to change the way we live
for the better - forever

the inventor: Keith Dixon-Roche

1 Introduction

Further to recent astrophysical discoveries concerning planetary spin, it has now been established that the earth's (and every other celestial body's) internal heat is being continually generated by friction, induced by competing kinetic and potential energies between its force-centre and satellite(s).

By Isaac Newton And Keith Dixon-Roche

Mantle heat is therefore a source of genuine renewable energy, here on earth, requiring no input from mankind to generate. Moreover, it is both genuinely clean and safe; no pollution.

Its potential in terms of earnings and importance to all of life-kind on Earth is such that it should attract a considerable amount of government support.

An exploitation method has been defined by the inventor and a preliminary patent created for its protection.

2 Potential & Aims

Along with the neutron energy cell, mantle energy will provide a safe, clean method of exploitation of a genuine source of renewable energy here on earth that will remain available for as long as the earth hosts its moon. Once operational, this technology will remain unseen (to the human eye).

The aim for this technology is to actually clean up mankind's current energy generation methods and make low-cost energy available to every human being on the planet.

The principal aim for this technology is to rid ourselves of dirty, inefficient and unreliable batteries and wind-generators, and also clean up national power-generators.

Instead of swapping one pollutant for another and/or simply moving it around as we do today, we could create a genuinely clean place for everyone in which to live; with unlimited, safe free energy that requires no fuel to generate and no heavy metal mining.

3 The Technology

This energy generation system is expected to be used in conjunction with the Neutron Energy Cell that together will provide unlimited, low-cost energy to everybody on the planet with zero pollution.

It is a means of electricity generation from heat, similar in concept to today's nuclear power-stations but with no requirement for buildings, waste, pollution or fuel.

The system can be installed using today's offshore drilling vessels.

For the purposes of clarification, this technology does not rely on wind, wave or current energy.

4 Patents

The exploitation of mantle heat.

Abstract:

The present invention relates to the exploitation of the earth's mantle heat to create electricity via a generator inserted in the earth's crust.

5 Investment Plan

Whilst the concept has been established, not all of its detail design has been fully resolved. Given the necessary resources, it is expected that a small-scale working model could be created in one to two years. A full-scale model could be installed and operating within a further four years.

It is expected that the small-scale working model would need four or five engineers and minimal administrative staff to complete.
